

Attachment

Service Architecture for BlackBerry

About the BlackBerry Internet Service

The BlackBerry Internet Service, managed by Research In Motion, allows BlackBerry smartphone owners to access up to 10 supported email accounts, including those of popular providers such as OCN Mail and Google™ Mail, without the need to install and manage enterprise server software. Push-based BlackBerry architecture enables email to be delivered automatically to the user's smartphone for easy and efficient management of email while on the go.